The Yoga Sūtra of Patañjali

Aphorisms on Yoga compiled by Patañjali

"A short saying often contains much wisdom...."

Sophocles

Chapter One Title

samādhi-pādaḥ I

The section on Integration.

"It is no longer enough to be smart — all the technological tools in the world add meaning and value only if they enhance our core values, the deepest part of our heart.

Acquiring knowledge is no guarantee of practical, useful application.

Wisdom implies a mature integration of appropriate knowledge, a seasoned ability to filter the inessential from the essential...."

Doc Childre and Deborah Rozman

Chapter One verse 1

atha yoga-anu-śāsanam I

Now follow the teachings of Yoga.

"Now is the accepted time, not tomorrow, not some more convenient season.

It is today that our best work can be done and not some future day or future year.

It is today that we fit ourselves for the greater usefulness of tomorrow.

Today is the seed time, now are the hours of work, and tomorrow comes the harvest and the playtime."

WEB Du Bois

Chapter One verse 2

yogaḥ-citta-vṛtti-nirodhaḥ I

Yoga is the containment of movement in the psyche.

"The present contains nothing more than the past, and what is found in the effect is already in the cause."

Henri Louis Bergson

Chapter One verse 3

tadā draṣṭuḥ sva-rūpe-avasthānam I

Then the seer's own character remains.

"We have a hunger of the mind which asks for knowledge of all around us, and the more we gain, the more is our desire; the more we see, the more we are capable of seeing...."

Maria Mitchell

Chapter One verse 4

vṛtti-sārūpyam-itaratra I

At other times there is identification with the movement.

"We are all inclined to judge ourselves by our ideals; others, by their acts...."

Harold Nicolson

Chapter One verse 5

vṛttayaḥ pañcatayyaḥ kliṣṭa-akliṣṭāḥ |

The movements are fivefold and they afflict or don't afflict.

"The mind is its own place, and in itself, can make heaven of Hell, and a hell of Heaven...."

John Milton

Chapter One verse 6

pramāṇa-viparyaya-vikalpa-nidrā-smṛtayaḥ |

They are right perception, wrong perception, imagination, deep sleep and memory.

"Common sense is the knack of seeing things as they are, and doing things as they ought to be done...."

Harriet Beecher Stowe

Chapter One verse 7

pratyakṣa-anumāna-āgamāḥ pramāṇāni |

Right perception is through the senses, inference and authentic teachings.

"If the doors of perception were cleansed everything would appear to man as it is, infinite."

William Blake

Chapter One verse 8

viparyayaḥ mithyā-jñānam-atad-rūpa-pratiṣṭham |

Wrong perception is false knowledge without foundation in character.

"If you do not tell the truth about yourself you cannot tell it about other people...."

Virginia Woolfe

Chapter One verse 9

śabda-jñāna-anupātī vastu-śūnyaḥ vikalpaḥ |

Imagination is knowledge as a result of words empty of substance.

"Imagination will often carry us to worlds that never were.
But without it we go nowhere...."

Carl Sagan

Chapter One verse 10

abhāva-pratyaya-ālambanā tamaḥ vṛttiḥ nidrā |

Deep sleep is the movement of obscurity supporting a non-appearance of psychic activity.

"Happiness, it seems to me, consists of two things: first, in being where you belong, and second -- and best -- in comfortably going through everyday life, that is, having had a good night's sleep and not being hurt by new shoes...."

Theodor Fontane

Chapter One verse 11

anubhūta-viṣaya-asampramoṣaḥ smṛtiḥ |

Memory is the recollection of the experience of an object.

"'I have done that,' says my memory.
'I cannot have done that' -- says my pride, and remains adamant.
At last -- memory yields...."

Fredrich Wilhelm Nietzsche

Chapter One verse 12

abhyāsa-vairāgyābhyāṃ tat-nirodhaḥ |

By both practice and dispassion they are contained.

"Self-respect is the fruit of discipline; the sense of dignity grows with the ability to say no to oneself...."

Abraham J Heschel

Chapter One verse 13

tatra sthitau yatnaḥ-abhyāsaḥ |

Practice is the effort to remain there.

"To listen is an effort, and just to hear is no merit.
A duck hears also."

Igor Stravinsky

Chapter One verse 14

saḥ tu dīrgha-kāla-nairantarya-satkāra-ādarā-āsevitaḥ dṛḍha-bhūmiḥ |

Moreover, this stage become firm when cared for over a long time, without interruption, with respect and enthusiasm.

"You got to be careful if you don't know where you're going, because you might not get there...."

Yogi Berra

Chapter One verse 15

dṛṣṭa-anuśravika-viṣaya-vitr̥ṣṇasya vaśīkāra-samjñā-vairāgyam |

Absence of thirst towards objects, either as seen or following heard spiritual teachings, is the acknowledgement of the achievement of dispassion.

"Good as drink is, it ends in thirst."

Irish Proverb

Chapter One verse 16

tat-param puruṣa-khyāteḥ-guṇa-vaiṣṇyam I

That highest is recognition of the animating principle resulting in an absence of thirst for the attributes of nature.

"A human being is a part of the whole called by us universe, a part limited in time and space.

He experiences himself, his thoughts and feeling as something separated from the rest, a kind of optical delusion of his consciousness.

This delusion is a kind of prison for us, restricting us to our personal desires and to affection for a few persons nearest to us.

Our task must be to free ourselves from this prison by widening our circle of compassion to embrace all living creatures and the whole of nature in its beauty...."

Albert Einstein

Chapter One verse 17

vitarka-vicāra-ānanda-asmitā-rūpa-anugamāt-saṃprajñātaḥ I

Total insight follows the character of profound reasoning, profound reflection, joy and the sense of 'I' am-ness.

"What we do not understand we do not possess."

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe

Chapter One verse 18

virāma-pratyaya-abhyāsa-pūrvāḥ saṃskāra-śeṣaḥ-anyaḥ I

Different from this is the cessation of psychic activities, even as the tendencies preceding practice remain

"Cessation of work is not accompanied by cessation of expenses."

Cato the Elder

Chapter One verse 19

bhava-pratyayaḥ videha-prakṛti-layānām I

Psychic activities will re-emerge for those beyond their body or absorbed in the source of matter.

"Change is the constant, the signal for rebirth, the egg of the phoenix."

Christina Baldwin

Chapter One verse 20

śraddhā-vīrya-smṛti-samādhi-prajñā-pūrvakaḥ itareṣām

For others faith precedes energy, remembrance, integration and insight.

"I have one life and one chance to make it count for something.

I'm free to choose what that something is, and the something I've chosen is my faith.

Now, my faith goes beyond theology and religion and requires considerable work and effort.

My faith demands -- this is not optional -- my faith demands that I do whatever I can, wherever I am, whenever I can, for as long as I can with whatever I have to try to make a difference...."

Jimmy Carter

Chapter One verse 21

tīvra-saṃvegānām-āsannaḥ I

It is near for those with extreme ardour.

"Children are remarkable for their intelligence and ardour, for their curiosity, their intolerance of shams, the clarity and ruthlessness of their vision."

Chapter One verse 22

mṛdu-madhya-adhimātravāt-tataḥ-api viśeṣaḥ I

Hence also the distinctions of mildness, moderateness and intensity.

"'I may be stupid,' interrupted the colonel, 'but the distinction escapes me. I guess I'm pretty stupid, because the distinction escapes me.'"

Joseph Heller

Chapter One verse 23

īśvara-praṇidhānāt-vā I

Or from contemplation on the divine.

"I know the price of success: dedication, hard work, and an unremitting devotion to the things you want to see happen...."

Frank Lloyd Wright

Chapter One verse 24

kleśa-karma-vipāka-āśayaiḥ-aparāmṛṣṭaḥ puruṣa-viśeṣa īśvaraḥ I

The divine is the distinctive animating principle untouched by afflictions, actions, results and seeds.

"Modern man no longer regards Nature as in any sense divine and feels perfectly free to behave toward her as an overweening conqueror and tyrant."

Aldous Huxley

Chapter One verse 25

tatra niratiśayaṃ sarva-jña-bijam I

There the source of all understanding is unsurpassed.

"An individual who breaks a law that conscience tells him is unjust, and who willingly accepts the penalty of imprisonment in order to arouse the conscience of the community over its injustice, is in reality expressing the highest respect for the law...."

Martin Luther King Jr

Chapter One verse 26

sa eśa pūrveṣām-api guruḥ kālena-anavacchedāt I

That, which uninterrupted by time, was also the teacher for all preceding teachers.

"Why not let people differ about their answers to the great mysteries of the Universe? Let each seek one's own way to the highest, to one's own sense of supreme loyalty in life, one's ideal of life. Let each philosophy, each world-view bring forth its truth and beauty to a larger perspective, that people may grow in vision, stature and dedication...."

Algernon Black

Chapter One verse 27
tasya vācakaḥ praṇavaḥ I
Its expression is sacred.

"Your sacred space is where you can find yourself again and again...."

Joseph Campbell

Chapter One verse 28
tat-japaḥ-tat-artha-bhāvanam I

That repetition is for realisation of its purpose.

"Repetition of the same thought or physical action develops into a habit which, repeated frequently enough, becomes an automatic reflex."

Dr Norman Vincent Peale

Chapter One verse 29

tataḥ pratyak-cetanā-adhigamaḥ-api-antarāya-abhāvaḥ-ca I

From that turning inwards awareness is attained and also the non-appearance of the interventions.

"We do not believe in ourselves until someone reveals that deep inside us is valuable, worth listening to, worthy of our trust, sacred to our touch. Once we believe in ourselves we can risk curiosity, wonder, spontaneous delight or any experience that reveals the human spirit...."

ee cummings

Chapter One verse 30

vyādhi-styāna-saṁśaya-pramāda-ālasya-avirati-bhrānti-darśana-alabdha-bhūmikatva-anavasthitatvāni citta-vikṣepāḥ-te-antarāyāḥ I

These interventions which distract the psyche are disorder, dullness, doubt, carelessness, laziness, over-indulgence, false view, non-attainment of a stage and losing stability.

"There are as many nights as days, and the one is just as long as the other in the year's course.

Even a happy life cannot be without a measure of darkness, and the word 'happy' would lose its meaning if it were not balanced by sadness..."

Carl Jung

Chapter One verse 31

duḥkha-daurmanasya-aṅgam-ejayatva-śvāsa-praśvāsāḥ-vikṣepa-sahabhavaḥ I

Suffering, negative thinking and unsteadiness in body and inhalation and exhalation accompany the distractions.

"The truth is that our finest moments are most likely to occur when we are feeling deeply uncomfortable, unhappy, or unfulfilled.

For it is only in such moments, propelled by our discomfort, that we are likely to step out of our ruts and start searching for different ways or truer answers...."

M Scott Peck

Chapter One verse 32

tat-pratiṣedha-artham-eka-tattva-abhyāsaḥ |

For that purpose of counteracting them practice one principle.

"Like all dreamers I confuse disenchantment with truth...."

Jean-Paul Sartre

Chapter One verse 33

maitrī-karuṇā-muditā-upekṣānāṃ sukha-duḥkha-puṇya-apuṇya-viṣayānāṃ
bhāvanātaḥ-citta-prasādanam |

Serenity in the psyche is by cultivating as an object friendliness, compassion, gladness and patience within pleasantness, suffering, right and wrong.

"What you are as a single person, you will be as a married person, only to a greater degree. Any negative character trait will be intensified in a marriage relationship, because you will feel free to let your guard down -- that person has committed himself to you and you no longer have to worry about scaring him off...."

Josh McDowell

Chapter One verse 34

pracchardana-vidhāraṇābhyāṃ vā prāṇasya |

Or, through both lengthening the exhale and holding out of the breath.

"Fill your paper with the breathings of your heart....."

William Wordsworth

Chapter One verse 35

viṣayavatī vā pravṛttiḥ-utpannā manasaḥ sthiti-nibandhinī |

Or, on finer cognition as an object arises steady binding of the mind.

"Each contact with a human being is so rare, so precious, one should preserve it...."

Anais Nin

Chapter One verse 36

viśokā vā jyotiśmatī |

Or, on that luminescence which is free from sorrow.

"Have you ever been at sea in a dense fog, when it seemed as if a tangible white darkness shut you in and the great ship, tense and anxious, groped her way toward the shore with plummet and sounding-line, and you waited with beating heart for something to happen?"

I was like that ship before my education began, only I was without compass or sounding line, and no way of knowing how near the harbor was.

"Light! Give me light!" was the wordless cry of my soul, and the light of love shone on me in that very hour...."

Helen Keller

Chapter One verse 37

vīta-rāga-viṣayaṃ vā cittam |

Or, as an object, a psyche free from attraction.

"The fewer facts you have in support of an opinion, the stronger your emotional attachment to that opinion."

Anonymous

Chapter One verse 38

svapna-nidrā-jñāna- ālambanaṃ vā |

Or, by staying with knowledge of dreams and deep sleep.

"We all dream; we do not understand our dreams, yet we act as if nothing strange goes on in our sleep minds, strange at least by comparison with the logical, purposeful doings of our minds when we are awake."

Erich Fromm

Chapter One verse 39

yathā-abhimata-dhyānād- vā |

Or, from meditation on what is appropriate.

"Whatever you do, do with all your might."

Marcus Tullius Cicero

Chapter One verse 40

parama-aṅu-parama-mahattva-antaḥ-asya vaśikāraḥ |

A person has achievement from the most minute to the most greatest.

"The highest possible stage in moral culture is when we recognize that we ought to control our thoughts."

Charles Darwin

Chapter One verse 41

kṣīṇa-vṛtteḥ-abhijātasya-iva maṇeḥ-grahīṭṛ-grahaṇa-grāhyeṣu tat-stha-tad-añjanatā
samāpattiḥ |

When movement is reduced, as if a precious gem that assumes the colour of an object, that staying with that which is grasping, the process of grasping and that which is grasped is unity.

"Beware that you do not lose the substance by grasping at the shadow."

Aesop's Fables

Chapter One verse 42

tatra śabda-artha-jñāna-vikalpaiḥ saṃkīrṇā savitarkā samāpattiḥ |

That unity, where there is a mixture of word, purpose, knowledge and imagination, is profound reasoning without refinement.

"The great majority love in others only what they lend him, their own selves, their version of him...."

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe

Chapter One verse 43

smṛti-pariśuddhau sva-rūpa-sūnya-eva-artha-mātra-nirbhāsā nirvitarkā I

Refined profound reasoning is when the memory is purified, as if empty of its own character, so that only the purpose shines forth.

"The whole of science is nothing more than a refinement of everyday thinking."

Albert Einstein

Chapter One verse 44

etayā-eva savicārā nirvicārā ca sūkṣma-viṣayā vyākhyātā I

By this, thus the process of profound reflection with and without refinement for subtle objects is explained.

"To be a philosopher is not merely to have subtle thoughts; but so to love wisdom as to live according to its dictates."

Henry David Thoreau

Chapter One verse 45

sūkṣma-viṣayatvaṃ ca-aliṅga-paryavasānam I

And the ultimate limit of subtle objects is the unmanifest.

"The universe is full of magical things, patiently waiting for our wits to grow sharper...."

Eden Phillpotts

Chapter One verse 46

tāḥ eva sabījaḥ samādhiḥ I

These are indeed integration with seed.

"If facts are the seeds that later produce knowledge and wisdom, then the emotions and the impressions of the senses are the fertile soil in which the seeds must grow...."

Rachel Carson

Chapter One verse 47

nirvicāra-vaiśāradye-adhyātma-prasādaḥ I

On the maturity of refined profound reflection the serenity is from the inner essence.

"Vision is the art of seeing the invisible...."

Jonathan Swift

Chapter One verse 48

ṛtaṃ-bharā tatra prajñā I

There the insight bears truth.

"A moment's insight is sometimes worth a life's experience."

Oliver Wendell Holmes

Chapter One verse 49

śruta-anumāna-prajñābhyām-anya-viṣayā viśeṣa-arthatvāt |

It is different from the insight based on verbal testimony and inference, as the purpose of the object is distinct.

"Suit the action to the word, the word to the action; with this special observance, that you o'erstep not the modesty of nature."

William Shakespeare

Chapter One verse 50

tat-jaḥ saṃskāra-anya-saṃskāra-pratibandhī |

The tendencies arising from that oppose other tendencies.

"Most people are more comfortable with old problems than with new solutions."

Anonymous

Chapter One verse 51

tasya-api nirodhe sarva-nirodhāt-nirbijaḥ samādhiḥ ||

When even that is contained, all is contained; this is integration without seed.

When my mind is still and alone with the beating of my heart,
I can find a quiet assurance, an inner peace, in the core of my being.

It can face the doubt, the loneliness, the anxiety,
Can accept these harsh realities and can even grow
Because of these challenges to my essential being.

When my mind is still and alone with the beating of my heart,
I can sense my basic humanity,

And then I know that all men and women are my brothers and sisters.
Nothing but my own fear and distrust can separate me from the love of friends.

If I can trust others, accept them, enjoy them,
Then my life shall surely be richer and more full.
If I can accept others, this will help them to be more truly themselves,
And they will be more able to accept me.

Paul Beattie

Chapter One Closing Verse

iti pātāñjala yoga darśane samādhi-pādaḥ ||

Thus Patañjali's view of Yoga in the section on Integration.

Through meditation and by giving full attention to one thing at a time,
we can learn to direct attention where we choose.

Ekhnath Easwaran
